Junior Executive/Trainee, Digital Development (m/f), Berlin

Akelius buys, upgrades and manages residential properties. The company owns 47,000 apartments in Sweden, Denmark, Germany, France, Canada, England and the United States.

We are a rapidly growing international company with more than eight hundred employees around the world. An integral part of our company is the Technology department. The Development team consists of more than one hundred employees mostly based in Berlin. Our focus is First Class service for our worldwide business.

Granted managerial or specialist position
After two years hands on, real responsibility express training, you will get an advanced position as transformation lead or project leader within our Technology department.

Cities
During the two years you will work in at least three countries, in cities like Stockholm, Malmö, Copenhagen, Berlin, Hamburg, London, Paris, Toronto, Montreal, New York, Washington, Boston.

Tasks
In the digital development program you will initially learn about residential real estate in general, in order to become high performing transformation lead or project leader within the Technology department.

Profile
You have a university degree in IT, Business Informatics or a related field. Ideally first professional experience. You have very good analytical-conceptual skills and excellent communication skills in English, written and spoken.
You will attend Akelius Business School’s MBA.

You start in September 2018.

During the two years you will get a remuneration of EUR 38,000 per year.

For further information please check www.akelius.de

Please send your application to application@akelius.de.